Dr. Myrriah Gómez

author of

Nuclear Nuevo México

Dr. Myrriah Gómez is a nuevomexicana from the Pojoaque Valley in northern New Mexico. She earned her Ph.D. in English with an emphasis in Latina/o Literature from the University of Texas at San Antonio. She is a 2011 Ford Foundation Predoctoral Fellow. She joined the UNM Honors College in 2016, where she teaches classes related to Chicana Studies and Environmental Justice. She directs the Conexiones-Spain study abroad program and serves as faculty coordinator for the UNM Mellon Mays Undergraduate Fellowship Program. Myrriah's work can be found in Science Fiction Studies, Honors in Practice, and Latin American Literature Today, among other places. Myrriah's recently published monograph, Nuclear Nuevo México: Colonialism and the Effects of the Nuclear Industrial Complex on Nuevomexicanos (University of Arizona, 2022), demonstrates how earlier eras of settler colonialism laid the foundation for nuclear colonialism in New Mexico.
